THE CHALLENGE

Upon outgrowing their previous office space in San Francisco, FHLB relocated over 150 employees to a 55,000 square-foot state-of-the-art facility. FHLB wanted a facility that could accommodate growth to support their workforce and technology to support their requirements in the coming years.

THE SOLUTION

The FHLB team were looking for intuitive solutions to meet their requirements for every area of their workplace. Creation Networks was flexible and provided a rock-solid technology infrastructure that their organization can depend on both now and in the future.

The new FHLB headquarters features a variety of beautifully designed meeting spaces, huddle spaces, a mezzanine which includes hoteling workstations, an impressive training facility, and an event space all powered by Crestron.

RESULTS

FHLB provides critical funds to financial institutions to support housing finance and community investment. Therefore, it is imperative to deploy technology that is built to support mission-critical applications. With Creation Networks as a partner, FHLB has a secure and scalable AV platform that they can depend on. Not only does Crestron technology instill confidence in their team, but it allows all employees to focus on their customers and successfully drive value in other areas of the company.
